Client

Services Provided

- Expert Review of Tank Test Results
- Preparation of Expert Report

Project Description

After the sale of the property from our client to Conair, Inc., it was discovered that an underground storage tank had leaked. The buyer, Conair, Inc., accused the seller, our client of misrepresenting tank test results.

Approach

An expert report was prepared in June of 1993 concerning legal defense of our Client who contracted a tank testing firm to perform the tank test prior to sale. SAI reviewed tank test results and showed that the company contracted to perform the test reported incongruous and impossible results. Therefore, our report concluded that our client should not be held negligent.
